Artist Potter

Hi, I'm Flor Rida an artist potter born and raised in South Florida, deeply inspired by the natural patterns and beauty of the region's fauna. Drawing from the vibrant textures and shapes of Florida's native plants, creating functional pottery pieces that merge artistry with everyday use. My work reflects a connection to the environment, with intricate details and organic designs that bring nature indoors. I enjoy crafting pieces that not only serve a purpose but also elevate the aesthetic of any space. I believe in the balance of beauty and function, ensuring my creations are as practical as they are visually appealing. From mugs to vases, each piece is a unique tribute to the natural world that surround me in South Florida. My passion for pottery began in my youth and continues to evolve as I explore new ways to incorporate nature into my art.
